Several handreds more are expected this afternoon and evening.

IF The Gazette of last Friday, referring to a case before Mayor Thomas in relation to the sale of putrid meat, says that "a man named Knox, living east of the city, was also implicated." We know not to whom the Gazette allades, but we have the authority of Mr. Wil-LIAM KNOX, the Township Assessor, for stating that neither he nor any one of his sons was implicated in the transaction referred to by the Gazette, not having been engaged at any time in the sale of meat of any kind whatever.

IF The Columbus Machine Company, Sunday evening, about four o'clock, received an order from the State for two tons of capnon balls. The patterns had to be made, but at five o'clock last evening the order was filled, and the balls delivered at the depot. They were for six pounders, and were handed over to Col. BARNETT's Artillery from Cleveland, who passed through this city last evening, for some point on the Ohio River.

Having taken some pains to inquire into the truth of the story, we find that, a week or two ago, two small snakes were detected in the city postoffice and killed, having doubtless escaped from some package. They were neat over to the Smithsonian Institution, where they are now preserved, and were readily determined to be one of the most harmless and inoffensive, as well as the most beautiful species of Northern serpects, the scarlet snake, technically known as the Rhinostoma coccines. The species is quite abundant throughout the Southern States, and the specimens had probably been originally addressed to the Smithsonian Institution, which frequently receives such objects by mail.
